J. CLYDE SWANSON INDICTED FOR MURDER OF BRYANT GIRL; CAUSE OF DEATH IN DOUBT

Troops Patrol Argentine Capital as Yrigoyen Quits

RIOTING FOLLOWS CHANGE OF RULE IN BUENOS AIRES

Control of Nation Placed in Hands of Vice President by Cabinet After Conference.

STREET DISORDERS LED BY STUDENTS

Many Reported Wounded in Turmoil; Retiring Leader Was Nation's Man of Mystery.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 5.—(AP)— Ipolito Yrigoyen, twice Argentina's president and long its mystery man of politics, today retired from office and delegated the powers of chief executive to Dr. Enrique Martinez, vice president.

The first act of the new government head was to declare a state of siege, or martial law, which prohibited public assembly and placed the capital city, the eighth largest city in the world, in the hands of the military.

Disorders broke out almost immediately, demonstrators parading in the Avenida de Mayo clashed with police near its intersection with the Calle Peru and many were wounded. There were other widespread incidents of minor character.

Explosion of bombs and the scream of sirens from the offices of La Na-cion, Buenos Aires daily, first notified the populace that an event of transparent importance had taken place.

As word spread that the president, who has been ill, had left his office he city went into an uproar.

The resignation was rumored but none as a surprise since leaders of Dr. Yrigoyen's own party, the radicals, were understood to have agreed to maintain a status quo until Monday when they would resume their efforts to oust the president.

Yrigoyen's action was followed by increasing disorder within the republic, both in the capital city and in the provinces. Last night 3,000 students parading in the Avenida de Mayo clashed with police. Two were killed and 30 wounded.

The president, who has held office since October, 1928, and was to have remained in power until 1934, has been blamed for economic depression.

at the divisional banquet on "How to Interpret the German 'Kamarad'."

Sergeant York, who captured more than 100 Germans single-handed, will speak at the divisional banquet on "How I Won the Battle of Belleau Wood."

Nine regiments of the division will hold regimental luncheons during the reunion. Sergeant York, who was a

3,000 Hat and Tie Fans Cheer As 'Babe' Ruth Opens His Shop

PRIVATE DINNER PRECEDES OPENING

BY H. ALLEN SMITH.
NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Close to 3,000 blasé New Yorkers jammed across Broadway at 52nd street tonight to celebrate the entrance of Mr.
George Herman (Babe) Ruth into the haberdashery business.

Mr. Ruth, resplendent in white flannels, stood behind the counter of the little two-by-four room which from now on is to be known as "Babe Ruth's Shop for Men, Inc.," and sold exactly 17 more hats than he has hit home runs in the last two years.

And the hats he sold! Men with heads measuring 6-5-8 bought hats measuring 7-5-9 and loved it. One lady, who fought her way through the crowd and finally reached the counter, seized upon the first piece of merchandise she could find, which happened to be a suit of gents' silken underwear of a mauve shade, and demanded that the proprietor slap his autograph on it.

The Babe worried for an hour before he reached his place of business over the prospects for a crowd.
Earlier in the evening his new commercial venture was celebrated with a private dinner at the home of Christy Walsh. Those attending besides Walsh and Ruth were Lou Gehrig, Knute Rockne, Walter Johnson, Bob Shawkey and Graham Mc-Namee.

Babe couldn't eat his broccoli for nervousness. "I wonder," he kept saying, "if anybody will turn up."
The party went down to the shop in Babe's 16-cylinder car and a police escort was necessary to push through the crowd. From then on every time Babe sold a hat the crowd whooped as if he had hit a homer.

McNamee was supposed to give the sales talk but Babe's enthusiasm proved his business acumen at the very outset. Grabbing his compatriot, Lou Gehrig, by the scruff of the neck, he led him over to the necktie counter.

"Lou," said Babe, "look at this beauty." He indicated a red tie with white polka dots in it—such as a man of snappy dress tendencies might wear on Sunday. The cravat was a 35-center if it was worth a dime.

"I'm going to let you have this necktie dirt cheap," the Babe said.
"I want you to understand that it was made by a genuine Japanese worm. Not only that, it was made in Japan and shipped over here in a boat. You didn't know that worms made neckties, now did you, Lou?"

"Now since we've been friends for a long time, I'm going to let you have this wonderful necktie for a mere $2.25. Dig, son, dig!"

Someone looked around sheepishly for someone to get him out of the shop. But Knute Rockne was having an argument with Graham McNamee.
Rockne insisting that one Norwegian can lick four Swedes any day of the week. So Gehrig dug, produced $2.25 and gave the necktie, surreptitiously, to a young admirer who was standing by.

Then the Babe presented his employer, Shawkey, with a fine felt hat which dropped over the Yankee manager's ears like a nose-bag. Hats were presented to Rockne, Walsh and Mc-Namee. Your correspondent, a member of the party all evening and in need of a hat, was presented a collar button.

GANG DEMANDED FOR WOODWARD

Boykin Refuses To Consider Any Other Course in Bunco Action.

Nothing but a chain gang sentence for Floyd P. Woodward, alleged ringleader of a gang of bunco men whose operations here were broken up in 1910, will meet with his approval, Solicitor-General John A. Boykin declared Friday night in answer to reports that efforts are being made to secure amnesty for Woodward by payment of fines.

"I have no intention whatsoever to allow and never will I consent for Woodward to pay any kind of a fine," Mr. Boykin said. "I have diligently sought to have him arrested by both federal and state officers all over the country, and no proposal which would involve the payment of any fine will be entertained by me and has never been entertained by me except to refuse such a proposal."

Mr. Boykin said he has endeavored to secure Woodward's capture as late as several weeks ago, but that all efforts to locate the man have been unavailing. Fines have been allowed in a few isolated cases where the police victims were in destitute circumstances and restitution was made, but a great many more of the bunco defendants have been sent to the penitentiary, and any course in the case of Woodward other than a chain gang sentence would be utterly inconsistent as Woodward was one of the principal ring leaders.

United States Attorney Clint W.
Hager said Friday night he knew of no other way of paying for the bringing Woodward back to submit on condition that he pay fines.

The district attorney explained he did not believe in any kind of a fine being added to the sentence of a police victim and he did not know where Woodward is or what condition he is in.

Mr. Boykin said that while a large number of bunco defendants have been sent to the penitentiary, many so far have escaped capture despite widespread search to round up the gang.
He has even tried to extradite one defendant from London, England, but without avail, he said.

Mr. Boykin denied circumstances such as precarious health of Woodward, missing witnesses, etc., would be considered in the case.

SANTO DOMINGO HURRICANE DEATH TOLL SET AT 1,200

Suffering of Survivors Becomes Acute as Relief Ships Hurry to Scene.
Florida Believed Safe.

BY RENE M. LEPERVANCHE, Associated Press Correspondent.

SANTO DOMINGO, Sept. 5. (4:30 P. M.)—(AP)—The death list in the Dominican Republic's hurricane disaster this afternoon swelled to more than 1,200. Bodies were still being pulled from the shambles of the city.

Relief workers under President Rafael Leonidas Trujillo feared the total would swell to 2,000.

Material damage was more than $20-000,000. The injured number about 5,000. These figures are for the capital alone.

And to the north lay death and desolation the extent of which could not even be guessed, for all means of communication between this Caribbean seaport and the interior was wiped out by the hurricane that whip-lashed the island on Wednesday, leaving it as though an earthquake had torn it asunder.

Of the city's 10,000 buildings but 400 were left in which to house the wounded and weak, and today hungers began to stalk the littered streets.

Relief workers had time only for the living and so, lest the horror of pestilence be added to the city's sorrowful burden of misfortune any attempt at burying the dead was abandoned in favor of mass incineration.

And yet, despite the terrific loss in life and property—the damage within the city limits was roughly estimated at $20,000,000—hope flamed strongly in the survivors' hearts and was strengthened by reports that relief ships were on the way with food and medical supplies, doctors and nurses.

Food, because of its insufficiency, was being strictly rationed and President Leonidas Trujillo himself worked in wreckage-heaped streets seeing that the most needy were first served and that no one starved.

As is always the case in the aftermath of disaster, whether the catastrophe be due to fire or flood, wind or earthquake, there were some instances of looting during the first paralyzed period after the hurricane passed.

REVIVAL OF TRADE SEEN BY SHIPPERS

Hear Reports of 23 Basic Industries in 9 Southern States.

BILOXI, Miss., Sept. 5.—(AP)—In reports presented to the 31st regular meeting of the Southeast Shippers' Advisory Board, here today, it was generally indicated that the worst of the present crisis was over and that business conditions could confidently be expected to show improvement in the fall. Nashville was selected as the next meeting place.

Reports were received from chairmen representing the 23 basic industries in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia. They estimated a decrease of only 6 per cent compared with 1929 in the aggregate volume of business for the last quarter of the year.

Businessmen were never in a better position to learn in advance the future of business and prepare themselves, the reports said.

POLITICAL STORM STIRS LOUISIANA; LONG FOES TAILED

Missing Opponents Are "in Custody," Governor Tells New Orleans Audience at Rally.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 5.—Governor Huey P. Long tonight announced that Samuel Irby, former chief chemist of the highway commission, and James Terrell, divorced husband of the governor's private secretary who were forcibly taken from a Shreveport hotel room Wednesday night, were in custody of Jefferson parish officers.

The governor made the announcement during his speech at a political meeting called in the interest of his senatorial candidacy in the lower section of the city.

Long produced a letter from John E. Flury, district attorney of Jaf-erson parish, saying that Flury wished to question Irby and Terrell concerning state documents alleged to be in their possession. The governor also read a copy of a telegram he said was sent by Irby and Terrell to State Senator Pike Hall, of Shreveport, saying that Hall's assistance in their behalf was not desired.

Attorney General Perry Saint tonight when informed of the governor's revelation, said:

"I have been unable to find the missing witness Irby. I am informed that the statement was made that he has been held for the Jefferson parish authorities. I shall look into his whereabouts at once, and through the proper court of the district where he is found, I shall make formal demand on whoever is holding him, to have this witness in a case I am conducting turned over to me."

State police were holding Irby and Terrell witnesses in a secret investigation of the highway commission, said Attorney General Saint, armed with warrants for the arrest of their captors, sought release of the two men on habeas corpus writ.

Leading the state officers who Thursday captured, handcuffed and spirited away the two men from a hotel here were Wade Long, son-in-law of Governor Long, and Dave Mc-Connell, the governor's brother-in-law.

Terrell is the divorced husband of Miss Leola Long Groopman, beautiful daughter of Governor Long. He was reported Irby attempted to defend himself with a pistol, but was disarmed.

GANDHI DEMANDS INDIA'S FREEDOM

Viceroy, Lord Irwin, Refuses To Grant Wish of Mahatma.

POONA, India, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Negotiations for cessation of India's civil disobedience campaign have broken down because Mahatma Gandhi demanded a full national government, responsible only to the people of India and with the right to secede at any time from the British empire, as the price of calling off the movement.

This the viceroy, Lord Irwin, refused to grant.

Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and Mr.
Jayakar, the peace-makers who delivered the ultimatum to the viceroy, last night, tonight made public the full correspondence after stating that their peace efforts had ended in complete failure.

The nationalist leaders—Gandhi, the Pandits Motilal and Jawaharlal Nehru, Vallabhai Patel and Mrs. Sarojini Naidu—drafted their demands at conferences in Yeroda prison here.

In addition to the principal points mentioned for a national government, they stipulated as follows:

That the government should have full control of defense forces as well as full economic control.

That it be given the right to refer to an independent tribunal such British claims, and that plans already in the Indian public debt, as seemed to them unjust.

That political prisoners not found guilty of violence should be released, their confiscated property restored and any fines paid be refunded.

That village officers who resigned in protest against the civil resistance movement and were dismissed should be reinstated if they so desired.

That all special restraining orders should be repealed.

If the viceroy agreed to these terms, Gandhi agreed to call off the civil disobedience program in general, but with the understanding that the illicit manufacture of salt and the picketing of foreign cloth and liquor shops were to continue. He agreed, however, that no more raids upon government salt deposits would be organized.

Bryant Girl Believed Linked With Miami Counterfeiting

DEAD WOMAN INDICTED LAST YEAR, U. S. AGENT SAYS

Death under tragic circumstances of Helen Bryant, whose body was found in the Chattahoochee river Thursday, within two months has removed three of eight alleged principals in a Miami counterfeiting case of a year ago, it was revealed Friday by federal secret service agents here.

The secret service operative in charge of the Atlanta district Friday said that the Helen Bryant, of 5 Warren Place, for whose alleged murder J. Clyde Swanson, Bolton painter, was indicted Friday, the same woman who was accused with seven others in a Miami case involving counterfeit money intended for purchase of a boatload of liquor.

Involved in the case were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bressler, who were said to have committed suicide in St. Louis in July; Bob Hill and several others.

The defendants were charged with taking $2,500 from Jack Fields, of Miami, it was said. The money was intended for purchase of a boatload of liquor, and was found to be counterfeit, the case developing after a shooting in Hill's establishment over transfer of the bills, it was said.

When the case came up for trial,
Fields was convicted, the agent stated.
The federal judge, however, refused to grant continuances of the other cases asked by the prosecution on what it considered important grounds, and when the indictment refused to proceed with the cases, the indictments were quashed, it was said.

The judge, it was said, refused to permit Bressler to testify in the case.

The Bryant woman disappeared Monday night after riding to Bolton with Swanson, who told police he left her at her home late that night.
Swanson denied having had anything to do with her death.

MEMORIAL AID PLEGGED TO CITY

Group Assures Leaders Any Acceptable Plan
Will Be Supported.

Any plan that the city of Atlanta backs for creating a super-memorial at Stone Mountain also will be favored by the Stone Mountain Monumental Association. G. F. Willis, president, declared late Friday in connection with his previous statements that the association would offer no obstacle to early resumption on the memorial project.

The meeting of the association, which had been tentatively set for Friday, has been deferred until one day next week, probably Tuesday, when the association is expected to make a formal declaration that it favors vesting the title to the property in the city of Atlanta.

Speaking for the association, Mr.
Willis said Friday that the organization wanted to remove any obstacle that might stand in the way of renewing the undertaking at the mountain site and bring to a successful conclusion "peace" negotiations which have been under way since Gutzenburg, who originally conceived the plan of recreating the memorial, arrived here last Sunday morning from the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Rapidly mounting interest in the meeting to be held Sunday afternoon at the Fox theater, when Rev. M.
Ashby Jones and Mr. Borglum will speak, the latter to outline in general the plan of the memorial, increased when it was learned that hundreds of letters from all over the south, and numerous telephone calls from many cities, to J. Lawrence McCord, one of the principals in the renewal of negotiations, had been detailed to Mr. Borglum, increasing the public interest in once more getting down to the business of finishing the memorial.

Mayor-elect Key and Mr. Borglum have gone over with Enrico Leide, Fox theater orchestra conductor, a program of music which will be a feature of the Fox meeting, the hour for which has been fixed at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. Key will preside at the meeting, while Dr. Jones and Mr.
Borglum are expected to deliver the principal speeches, the former recurring to the expanding the memorial address he made 12 years ago which addressed the city.

Great Smoky Park Tract Is Accepted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)— Lands tendered the government by governors of North Carolina and Tennessee for the Great Smoky Park National Park were formally accepted today after the attorney-general had passed on titles to the area.

The national park service in a statement announcing acceptance said that the area embraced more than 35,875 acres, and that plans already had been made for transferring from western parks several men specially trained in national park work and police.

The park is to have a minimum area of 427,000 acres.

DOCTOR TO REPORT AUTOPSY FINDINGS TO COURT TODAY

Five Counts Listed in Bill Against Bolton Painter, To Cover Possible Manner of Slaying.

DEFENDANT SEEKS FREEDOM ON WRIT

Petition for Habeas Corpus Filed by Attorney;
Dr. W. A. Arnold Examines Woman's Body.

Indictment of J. Clyde Swanson, 34, painter, of Bolton, for murder of Miss Helen Bryant was voted Friday afternoon by the Fulton county grand jury following the investigation by the solicitor-general's office of the circumstances surrounding the finding of the girl's body in the Chattahoochee river. Swanson is held in Fulton tower.

In the true bill, the grand jury listed five counts to cover the possible method of death, the investigators being in doubt as to how the girl died.
The first count is a general indictment for the murder of Helen Jones, alias Helen Bryant, alias Mansfield, alias Helen Wright in a manner to the grand jury unknown. The second count charges murder by striking, beating and wounding with a blunt instrument, the third, murder by choking and strangling with the hands, the fourth by throwing her in the river and drowning her, and the fifth by shooting her with a pistol.

An autopsy over Miss Bryant's body was completed late Friday afternoon by Dr. W. A. Arnold under a court order requested by Assistant Solicitor-General Ed A. Stephens and the grand jury.

Dr. Arnold Friday night said that he would make his report to the court this morning. Prior to making his official report, Dr. Arnold said he would rather not discuss the case in detail, other than to say that he had not found any outstanding evidence of foul play. There was no evidence of a blow on the head nor of broken bones, and he did not find any bullet holes, Dr. Arnold said. Examination was difficult because of the decomposed condition of the body, and since the lungs were collapsed because of necessity of section by the undertaker in embalming the body, he could not determine definitely whether there was water in the lungs, although he was sure there was no water there, he said.

In an effort to gain freedom, Swanson Friday morning filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus through his attorney, Frank T. Grizzard. The petition was set for Monday by Judge E. D. Thomas. Action of the grand jury in returning the indictment Friday probably will offset the habeas petition.

Hoover Is Undecided On Week-End Journey

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—President Hoover abandoned his plans to leave late today for his Virginia fishing camp and is still undecided whether he will go to the camp this week-end at all.

The chief executive had planned to make his customary week-end trip, leaving after his conference with newspapermen late today. He still is considering going to the camp some time tomorrow and remaining until Sunday or early Monday.

FINEST FOR FINE BAKING

WHITE LILY FLOUR

Couldn't be finer if it were packed in Jewel Cases!

It's not surprising there's something in White Lily not found in other flour... a subtle, magical quality that shows in your cakes, biscuits and pies. White Lily Flour is milled from the choicest winter wheat. It is tested every hour in a model laboratory-kitchen. The air of the mill is washed through sprays of cool water to purify it and give the correct moisture for milling... it is kept each day at the same even temperature. White Lily is sifted through imported hand-woven silk, so every sack will be the same fluffy-light flour for fine baking. Truly White Lily couldn't be finer if it were packed in Jewel Cases. White Lily's lightness and purity bring success to fine baking. Your grocer carries it in plain and self-rising.

Detroit's 'Silent Thug' Claims Fifth Victim

DETROIT, Sept. 5.—(P)—The mysterious "gun shoe" robber who has been terrorizing Detroit police for almost a week has taken his fifth victim.

The robber, who slips up behind victims and strikes them down without warning, last night slugged Miss Ethel Goldsmith as she remained on duty alone in her father's shoe store. Her head was seriously injured. Her chances for recovery are slight.

The four previous victims of the slugging, all small shopkeepers, also remain in hospitals. In each case the cash register was rifled.

Chauffeur Rescues Heirs to Fortunes

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—(P)—Except for the bravery of a chauffeur, two small boys, heirs to large fortunes, might have drowned in Lake Michigan last night.

The boys, William Greenbaum, 9, and Thomas Straus, 10, were carried into the lake by a strong undertow.

Edward Stoneberg, the chauffeur, leaped in after them and after fighting the waters several minutes, managed to get to young Straus and bring him ashore. Although nearly exhausted, he returned for the Greenbaum boy, whom he brought ashore, assisted by a passerby, C. D. Ludlow, state inspector of waterways.

The father of the Greenbaum boy is M. Ernest Greenbaum, Jr., vice president of the investment house bearing his name. The Straus boy's father, Melvin L. Straus, is vice president of S. W. Straus & Co.

STOP CONSTIPATION THIS PLEASANT WAY

ONCE PEOPLE thought pills and drugs were the only way to relieve constipation. But the modern, safer method is to include sufficient roughage in the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, either in krumbled form, or the new Biscuit, gives you this bulk, and overcomes constipation naturally. Read this enthusiastic letter:

"Mine was an extreme case of constipation. I had almost given up hopes of ever being relieved."

"One day I came across your advertisement, so I thought I would try ALL-BRAN. It relieved me almost immediately and I have had no trouble since, which was almost three months ago."

Mrs. E. E. Leslie, 2104 Lyman St., Flint, Michigan.

Delicious when served with milk or cream. ALL-BRAN also adds needed iron to the diet. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. The original ALL Bran.

Vacation Varieties

BY JESSIE MARIE DEBOTH

Vacation trips frequently offer agreeable new food combinations which are as welcome as the change of surroundings. In motoring about there is the advantage of varied meals as well as interesting scenery and we have been jotting down notes on the different dishes that were made enjoyable by unusual combinations or special seasoning.

The savory potatoes served to us with boiled fish consisted of a tablespoon each of minced chives (or green onions), green pepper, parsley and lemon juice seasoned with salt and pepper and heated in three tablespoons of butter, then poured over three cups of cubed or quartered boiled potatoes. They are equally good with chops or steak and can be kept palatable for some time over hot water in case of delay.

A luncheon dish of sliced tongue in a snappy mustard sauce was most appetizing. For this a teaspoon of dry mustard is mixed with two tablespoons of flour, then added to three tablespoons of butter in a sauce pan, and cooked to a smooth consistency with a scant cup of stock and half a cup of milk. Season with salt, a dash of cayenne or tobacco and a teaspoon of lemon juice. Heat the meat through, arrange in the serving dish and sprinkle with minced parsley. Boiled beef or steamed fish are also good with such a sauce.

The regulation chicken timbale of minced meat, crumbs, etc., was far surpassed by a delicate custard-like dish served in the prominent woman's club. For this the chicken is cut in cubes and placed lightly in the buttered timbale molds to half fill them. For eight or ten molds, according to size, beat six eggs just enough to blend evenly, add a teaspoon each of salt and minced parsley, some pepper and a little onion juice, and when well mixed, stir in a cup and one-half of milk. Pour this over the chicken, place in a shallow pan on several folds of paper and surround with boiling water. Cook in a moderate oven about half an hour, or until firm. When done, a knife thrust into the center will come out clean. Loosen edges with a small spatula, turn out gently and surround with a mushroom sauce. Place a sprig of parsley on each timbale and serve at once with shoe string or French fried potatoes. We tried the cause idea with delicate lamb and a cream tomato sauce with great success, and mean to experiment with bits of braised calves liver and a savory brown sauce.

An attractive service of sweetbreads, Virginia style consist of uniform pieces of sweetbread sautéed in golden brown, sweetened on delicate slices of crisp ham which rested on rounds of toast. Whole hot mushrooms, sprinkled with lemon juice, top the meat, and a creamy white sauce, enriched with egg yolks, is poured around the toast. These were served in shallow individual bakers at a golf club, but could well be arranged on a platter for home service.

Perfect baked potatoes make as good an accompaniment as one could wish, but for a more elaborate dish a crisp potato croquette is excellent.

Jellied chicken in a popular tea room is made distinctive by thin slices of lemon (free from rind or inner skin) scattered through the aspic jelly to enliven the firm portions of the white meat. This is sliced on lettuce, served with stiff mayonnaise, a few large olives, some crisp celery and a delicious orange roll. We found the latter used quite generally in one large city, and wonder why other places do not feature them. Any good bakeshop would do well to offer them. In some products the orange juice and grated rind are mixed into the roll dough, and in others the plain dough is spread with butter and orange marmalade, then rolled up, cut and baked like cinnamon rolls. Jellied sweetbread salad is luscious and unusual. The meat and mayonnaise are combined with seedless cubes of cucumbers or sliced celery and chopped white of egg, then spread on a firm layer of lemon jelly just when it begins to congeal. In serving each section is topped with sliced egg yolk and thinly sliced red radishes.

A dainty cheese roll to serve with green salads is made by rolling biscuit dough quite thin (it may be patted out if too soft to roll) spreading lightly with butter and generously with grated or crumbled cheese and paprika and finishing like orange rolls. These should be served hot and plenty of 'em!

The large purple plum makes an attractive salad when peeled, filled with cream cheese and imbedded in a crisp lettuce heart. The French dressing for this is made with lemon juice instead of vinegar, it contains no mustard, but has a small amount of powdered sugar and a dash of sherry flavor.

A lovely lake-side inn presented "plum pie a la mode" on the menu which intrigued our curiosity. Tart, red plums, well seasoned, made the delectable filling for the rich pastry, with a smooth ice cream ball to complete a rich but gorgeous dessert.

Spiced plums make such a pleasing relish and require so little effort. Now is the time to prepare them for winter enjoyment. In some homes the tart apple sauce only obtainable at this season to the huge satisfaction of the lucky families.

A little wayside tea room delighted us with an unusual frozen dessert which combined a delicate almond ice cream full of crushed nuts, with refreshing lime ice. The color scheme was as pleasing as the combined flavors.

Fresh peach ice cream and red raspberry made another attractive combination which pleased us immensely. We pity the people who can't enjoy fine food.

SALMON MOLD.
Soak 1 tablespoon gelatin in water. Beat 2 egg yolks and mix with 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon mustard and a few grains cayenne. Add 1-2 tablespoons melted butter, 2 tablespoons vinegar and 3-4 cup milk. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Remove from fire and add gelatin and 1 large can salmon, shredded. Turn into a mold dipped in cold water and chill. When ready to serve turn out on a bed of crisp lettuce leaves. Nasturtium leaves and blooms make a pleasing garnish.

Receivership Denied In Insurance Suit

Dismissing a temporary restraining order and declining to sign a writ of injunction, Judge Samuel H. Sibley, in United States court, has refused to appoint a receiver in the suit brought by Lewis A. Irons, ancillary receiver for the Citizens Life Insurance Company, against the Interstate Life and Accident Company, of Chattanooga; the Southern Insurance Company, of Nashville; the Citizens Finance Syndicate, Inc., of Huntsville, Ala., and Will G. Harris, of Nashville.

Judge Sibley at the same time declined to dismiss the suit, which was temporarily halted until attorneys for both sides can present additional facts. The suit and a similar one filed by policy holders hinges on a reinsurance contract of the Citizens Life Insurance Company with the Interstate Company, a move which was part of a merger of various southern insurance companies several years ago.

Foreign War Vets Demand Dry Law Repeal; Adjourn

Paul C. Wolman Elected National Commander and Kansas City Chosen for 1931 Convention.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Paul C. Wolman, of Baltimore, was elected national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Kansas City chosen for the 1931 convention today as the 31st national encampment here came to a close with a demand for the repeal of the 18th amendment and its enforcement laws. Wolman was advanced to the national commander post from that of senior vice commander, to which Harold D. DeCoe, of Sacramento, Cal., was advanced from the junior command. Rear Admiral Robert E. Conz, retired, of Washington, was elected junior national commander in his absence. Wolman succeeded Ezekiah N. Duff, Lansing, Mich. Dr. Guy Seward, of Fremont, Neb., was re-elected surgeon general; George A. Henderson, of Newark, N. J., judge advocate general; R. B. Handy, of Kansas City, quartermaster general, and Rabbi Emmanuel J. Jack, of Yonkers, N. Y., national chaplain. The demand for dry law repeal was adopted by the convention by a vote of 873 to 637, after it had set aside an adverse report by the resolutions committee. When the adverse report was returned, the convention floor became a scene of pandemonium. Several parliamentary moves were made in an effort to have the resolution tabled, the committee report reversed or the question changed to place "retention" of the prohibition law before the states in a referendum. All were defeated and the direct question of repeal placed. It carried by a majority of more than 200.

Other resolutions adopted by the convention today were those petitioning the president and congress to have the "Star Spangled Banner" made the national anthem; protesting the admission to citizenship of any person unwilling to take the oath of allegiance as at present outlined; requesting national authorities to report all habitual criminals and undesirable aliens and immigration officials to examine more stringently aliens seeking entry into the United States.

The veterans also went on record as favoring the granting of independence to the Philippines through passage of a bill to that effect pending in congress. Earlier in the day, Mrs. Ada M. Harrison, of New York, was chosen national president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. She succeeds Mrs. Bessie Hanken, of Revere, Mass. All of those made ill by a mixture of food and alcohol on the excursion to Annapolis yesterday, were reported practically recovered.

4 Yugoslavians Get Sentences of Death

TRIESTE, Italy, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Four of the 18 Yugoslavians on trial for acts of terrorism were sentenced to death before a firing squad as the case was concluded tonight.

They are Francesco Marusic, 24 years old; Zvonimir Milos, 26; Ferdinando Bidovec, 22, and Luigi Valencic, 32. Two others were acquitted and the remaining 12 were given sentences ranging from 2 1/2 to 30 years in the penitentiary. The only woman among the 18, Sofia Korze, received the lowest sentence, two and one-half years.

Of the four condemned to death, the government prosecutor claimed that Francesco Marusic was the leader of the band—that he and Luigi Valencic were connected with a plot against Premier Mussolini by which they intended to plant a bomb in the Duce's motorcar.

The condemned men probably will face the firing squad in the prison yard tomorrow morning, or Monday morning at the latest.

The defendants were charged with 13 murders, 31 attempted murders, bombings, burning of schools and asylums, spreading of subversive literature and supplying military secrets to Yugoslavia.

Survey of Borough Audit Plan Invited

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Friday prepared to address letters to leading national auditors having local branches in Atlanta, asking them to undertake a survey of the borough bookkeeping system in accordance with a councilmanic resolution passed Monday by council.

The mayor stated several of them had indicated a willingness to undertake the task free of any cost, with a view to the showing of comparative advantages of the present bookkeeping with a proposed centralized system which he has favored for the past several years.

Deputy Sheriff Slain During Raid on Still

CAIRO, Ill., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Herbert Coryell, of Sandusky, near here, was shot and killed and William Bryant, alleged moonshiner, was wounded in the leg, in a shooting during a raid on a whisky still in a wooded section near Sandusky last night.

In a dying statement Coryell named Minus Dunning, about 50, a timberman, and alleged notorious bootlegger, as his slayer. Dunning was the object of a widespread manhunt in southern Illinois today. Bryant is in a hospital here.

Dunning, who is under $4,000 bond on federal liquor charges, fled after the battle.

A. U. Smith To Head Auto Credit Group

New officers for the ensuing year were elected at the annual luncheon of the automotive group of the Atlanta Association of Credit Men, held at Davison's tea room. A. U. Smith, of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, was elected chairman, and S. W. Wilson, Jr., of the Wofford Oil Company, vice chairman. The Atlanta group, composed of leading automobile accessory, tire and oil companies, is sponsored and directed by the credit association, of which F. H. ## Gazaway Released Under $5,000 Bond Bryce M. Gazaway, under indictment for the murder of William A. Stewart, Jr., Friday was released from Fulton tower under $5,000 bond pending trial of the case. The bond originally was set at $7,500, but was reduced on request of the defense. Gazaway was allowed bond by Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court. He is represented by Attorneys Sydney Baynes, Paul Lindsay and George G. Finch.

Train Leaps Tracks, Injuring 12 Persons

MERWIN, Mo., Sept. 5.—(AP)—A dozen persons were injured, two severely, when the engine and four cars of the Flying Crow, northbound Kansas City Southern passenger train from Port Arthur, Texas, were derailed and piled up across the tracks at a switch here late today. Several of the injured were taken to Kansas City in motor cars. H. C. Van Inwagen, of Kansas City, baggage man, suffered two broken ribs and other body injuries. An elderly man whose name was not learned was the other person injured severely.

CONFESSED MURDERER OF 22 HANGS IN KANSAS

Panzran Jeers Crowd at First Execution in State Since 1888.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Carl Panzran, self-declared slayer of 22 persons, was hanged at the federal prison early today for the murder of R. G. Warnke, civilian laundry foreman at the penitentiary where Panzran was serving a sentence for burglary imposed by a District of Columbia court.

President Hoover last night denied a plea for clemency.

The slayer was pronounced dead at 6:19 a. m. Jeering the crowd as he walked to the gallows Panzran noted two chaplains present. He asked the warden that they be removed. The chaplains left in accordance with his will. Panzran, serving his sixth prison sentence, struck down the laundry foreman with a heavy iron bar June 10, 1929, in a frenzy of rage.

The hanging was the first legal execution in Kansas since 1870, with the exception of that of a federal prisoner at Wichita in 1888. The Kansas law provides capital punishment only for treason. Panzran, however, was prosecuted under federal statutes, his crime having been committed on federal property.

Before his trial for murder at Topeka, Kan., the prisoner wrote a letter to the trial judge demanding justice which he described as "that I be found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to die." Panzran was pronounced sane by a sanity board before which he boasted of committing 22 murders. He identified one of his victims as George Henry Monahan, of Salem, Mass.

Grand Jury Continues Hospital Quiz Tuesday

Investigation of Grady hospital affairs will be continued Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury. The probe by the newly organized jury began Thursday, when numerous hospital attaches and other witnesses were heard, but was sidetracked Friday for important routine business.

CITIZENS—It's Time to Wake Up!

Shall our courts of justice be subjected to "ring" control? Shall we permit the "ring" to block the examination of ballots when the honesty of an election is questioned? Is it wrong for the grand jury to know who contributed to the "ring's" county commission candidates' slush fund? Why is the last grand jury supporting me? ## POWER CO. INJUNCTION WILL BE HEARD TODAY

Action Against Commission Slated for Judge
Thomas' Court.

Trial of an injunction suit instituted by the Georgia Power Company against the Georgia public service commission in an effort to prevent the commission from hearing a new rate case is scheduled for this morning in Judge E. D. Thomas' division of Fulton superior court.

The public service commission has employed special counsel to appear in the court hearing, and Chairman James A. Perry has said that he will insist that the case be tried today.

Following the action of the power company in reducing its rates in Cordele recently, the commission cited the company to appear and show cause why rates established in Cordele should not apply to all localities served by the company in Georgia.

The company then sought an injunction.

$450,000 PROPERTY DEALS ARE REPORTED

Valuable Peachtree, Whitehall Real Estate Changes Hands.

Important Peachtree and Whitehall street commercial properties figured in a three-cornered real estate transaction consummated Friday afternoon, marking a high spot among the major property dealings reported since the first of the year. While the amount of consideration was not available, due to exchange of parcels being included, a conservative estimate of the holdings involved was given as more than $450,000 in total value.

The transaction, handled by Harrie W. Lewis, of Lewis & Holsenbeck, and John C. Baldwin, of Adams-Cates Company, were concluded when Ben J. Massell, F. G. Corker and Arthur Howell, principals in the deal, affixed their signatures to the deeds in offices of the Atlanta Title & Trust Company Friday.

Massell, Corker Deal.
In the first phase of the three-cornered transaction, the Massell Realty Company sold the parcel fronting 290 feet on Whitehall street and improved with a three-story structure known as 381 Whitehall, to F. G. Corker, local capitalist. The Massell company took as part payment three adjoining buildings on the east side of Peachtree street between Pine and Merritt streets.

The transaction revealed an interesting trend in the rapid turnover of Peachtree street commercial property, when the parcels given by Corker as part payment to the Massell company were resold by the latter to Arthur Howell, completing the third corner of the deal.

Details of the transactions, according to the report, involved sale of the Whitehall street structure, with a depth of 300 feet, running back to railroad frontage in the rear, by the Massells to Corker. The parcel given by Corker in exchange as part payment fronts 106 feet on the east side of Peachtree street, extending back 185 feet to an alley in the rear. It is improved with three adjoining buildings, known as 489, 493 and 495 Peachtree street. These are tenanted by the used car department of Caution Motor Company, a restaurant and a temporary location of Blanchard Brothers Involved.

In the resale of the Peachtree parcels by the Massell company to Arthur Howell, Massell took as part consideration the large Howell home place on Peachtree road, beyond Brookwood, and a three-story mill-constructed building on Gilmer street, immediately east of the auditorium. The Howell place has a frontage of 200 feet on Peachtree road.

The three-cornered transaction negotiated by Lewis and Baldwin was typical of a number of the major deals of the year involving large items of exchange as part consideration. It also was similar to other recent trading in Peachtree commercial properties which involved rapid turnovers through immediate resales. The Friday transaction was heralded as a forerunner of the fall real estate season, which is expected to witness considerable movement in income properties.

Central of Georgia Lowers Cotton Rates

Reductions on freight rates for cotton of from 20 to 50 per cent have been made by the Central of Georgia railroad, Eugene Talmadge, state commissioner of agriculture, was informed today by N. B. Wright, traffic manager of that route.

The reduction was made August 20, Mr. Wright said, and will continue possibly until December. The reductions were made "solely for the purpose of meeting truck competition," Mr. Wright wrote to the commissioner.

Similar reductions were ordered on the Atlanta and West Point, Western of Alabama and Georgia railroads several days ago.

Mayor To Auction Park Ponies Today

Thirty-five ponies of the Atlanta park system will be auctioned off at Piedmont park at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon with Mayor I. N. Ragsdale officiating.

Colonel R. B. Rogers will assist the mayor in the work. It is an annual custom to auction off the ponies to avoid keeping them through the non-productive winter months and to purchase others in the spring for the play season.

A PLAGUE OF LAWLESSNESS.

The contempt and defiance of law that are too manifest in the behavior of our American populace are suggesting remedies to those leaders, teachers and government administrators who are really concerned for the character of our national civilization.

The most inclusive remedy suggested is a general education of the rising generation in the usefulness and obligations of laws protective of life, property and personal liberties. A people who do not understand clearly the "why" of laws, and their direct personal interest in the observance and enforcement of defensive laws, are not likely to develop a national law-abiding character. And it is plain that we have not that character in the United States at the present time.

The four corners that enclose by their connecting lines the content of national character are the home, the school, the church and the state, and the co-operation of all of them is essential to the creation and continuity of a popular psychology. That co-operation manifestly has not been active and earnest during the growing up of the present potential generation.

The lack is explained by the inroads that war liberalism made upon the sanctities and authority of the home; by the emphasis put upon personal and national materialism in the schools of every grade; by the transference of church propaganda from spiritual character to political conduct; and the slackness of the state and its courts in protecting rights and punishing crimes.

The plague of these malversations of function is not local; it covers the entire country and affects the mass as did the plagues of Egypt.
No state, no city and scarcely a county is immune from the lawless epidemic.

The later home theory that youth must express itself, must "have its filling," must not be chafed with behavior bonds, is a theorem of trashy thinking, dissolute moralities, and disrespect for God-made or man-made restraints. It has not yet tainted the whole youth of the land, but tends perilously toward that result.

A new cult of optimism, of individual libertinism, in effect, in education, has invaded the schools in general and helped strongly to poison youth with that vagary of voluntarism which leads to elect the rules and laws it will obey or defy. Law observance should be a major study in all schools throughout the nation.

The churches, it must be confessed, have not exerted their full influence upon the spirits of the people in building up respect for laws divine and human. Where the churches should be most potent to that end is actually where lawlessness is most rampant. No specifications are needed; the records of crime are the proof.

The state is generally derelict in law enforcement and the greatest of its derelictions is in its judicial department. The highest juristic authorities so pronounce and public opinion agrees.

In the conclusion, therefore, the obvious process for the cure of lawlessness down to the irreducible minimum in any community is the co-operation of home, school, church and courts in educating the accessible populace to the necessity, the sacredness, the usefulness and the inexorable operation of the laws made for the defense of life, liberty, possessions and public welfare.

"Alfalfa Bill" Murray, of Oklahoma, fears the "federalization" of the states, but the states have done all the federalizing of themselves thus far.

A government able to spend millions to kill ticks and fruit flies ought to be able to do something to cure unemployment of willing and hungry labor.

OUR BODIES VS. OUR CARS.

A recent bulletin of the American Research Foundation cites the strange anomaly that the average American knows much more about the intricate workings of his automobile, and the things necessary to do for its proper care, than he does about his own body.

"Most men," says the bulletin,
"give little thought to the effects of the foods they eat, but are anxious to feed their cars fuel and oil that will improve their efficiency."
"Many Americans require milk in their diet; others may thrive on coffee; still others seem to demand something stronger, just as in the case of automobile motors, some of which operate best on regular gasoline, others on aircraft gas, and still others which demand high compression gasoline to render the best service. The average American will give his car the particular kind of gas it needs, but will pay little or no attention to his diet."

If Americans as a whole would consult their doctors as faithfully as they do their favorite automobile mechanic, we would not only be a healthier and happier nation, but there would be a distinct increase in our productive ability. No man can render the service of which he is capable, either mental or physical, when the human machine is not functioning properly.

It is a strange psychology that causes the same man who hurries to the repair shop the minute he detects a leaking valve in his motor, to ignore a leaking valve in his heart and put off calling in a physician until he is practically dead and out.

The human body is in many respects just as much of a machine as is the motor of an automobile, and unless it is given the same careful attention it cannot be expected to function efficiently.

ANOTHER TURN TO COTTON.

A recent bulletin of the Cotton Textile Institute of New York comments on the extent to which men throughout the country have this summer given preference to suits made of cotton.

According to the institute's bulletin a national survey shows that the element of comfort was largely responsible for this switch from summer woollens to cottons. Especially was this true, it is reported, in the states of Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, Maryland and West Virginia.

It is significant that practically every one of these states borders on the so-called "cotton states," where for generations the men have in summer supplied their wardrobes largely from apparel made of cotton. It would thus seem that the growth in the popularity of cotton apparel for men is largely in the nature of a spreading movement which may reasonably be expected to continue until it covers the entire country.

The Cotton Textile Institute bulletin adds another possible reason for the spread of popularity of cotton suits in the following paragraph:
"From time to time special efforts are made to introduce them at popular convention centers during the summer months as a desirable convention costume. Considerable progress is being made in developing this market—particularly in southern convention cities which attract large numbers of businessmen each summer."

There is not a state in the Union in which suits made of cotton would not be more comfortable and healthy in summer than those made of heavier and warmer materials. In view of the lesser cost of the cotton suits, there is no reason why the reported increase in the wearing of these suits should not show steady progress.

The benefit to the south will be two-fold. The growing demand for the cotton suits will annually require a considerable increase in the amount of cotton used for this purpose, while the textile mills, now largely centered in the south, will be called on to enlarge their output of suitings.

man ought to make that Illinois senatorial race something of a memorable scrap.

seems, is neither mum nor extra-dry.

ing "Legs" Diamond justly and Business is reviving sufficiently to ask, like a sobering-up man,

"What happened?"

Next Tuesday the self-respecting people of Louisiana should put a short-stop finish to Huey Long.

After presiding over the senate it is quite in line for Vice President Dawes to head a wild life movement.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PASSEN

Pot of Honey.

To begin the day right, said a famous Frenchman who lived long ago, one should take a little pot of honey and some creamy butter with freshly baked crackling bread and coffee. Just about the time when the sun is rising out eight and the perfume of fuchias and dew-freshened lawns drifts in through the open window, one should install one's dining room, eat, say nothing, and first take a long sniff at the honey. That Frenchman was a wise man, no doubt, but he didn't have to hurry to the subway, or catch the 8:15 train. As to the long sniff, we also do it. But as a rule it concerns someone else's honey. We attend to our own honey in the morning paper. Nevertheless that draws our attention or indifference to the honey.
Especially as to the honey. For if the ancients knew anything at all, we are eating far too little of that golden nectar. It is the golden honey of life.
What other name could be given to that mixture of bees, in which there is a tinge of blue as well as the glow of many golden bees about words, and a sprinkle of the sweet marjoram of today many aristocrats make their bees like niggers. The result is a pale, sickly looking honey. Bees require time to perform their heavenly task. Maeterlinck, who was brought up among bees in his Flemish meadows, with his beekeeping, and who became the great interpreter of bees to contemporary humanity, would be indignant to see the honey of life hurriedly squeezed into business nowadays. Yet as occasional consumers, pay the price of this. And it is exactly this inferior taste which makes us so impatient with the partakers of honey, where our ancestors, who believed many contained elements for long life, were most regular in their honey habits. The honey was a sweeter world to live in, some people hold. Was it perhaps on account of the honey they ate so lavishly that they were so ready to go to top off a noontid day of "fresh carrots and pod peas." Who shall tell these things? But is there any proof, one may ask, that modern men are human? As a matter of fact there is.
Even the odor of honey can do it.
Take the case of Democritus, which is most convincing. He was extremely old, so old, in fact, that he wanted to die. In order to pass out easily and without suffering, he ate a little less every day. His strength was ebbing fast. Then came a week of feasting in honor of the immortal gods. The wonder of his household urged him to linger a little longer and share the divine celebrations. To this he consented.
Near his couch he ordered the girls to place a pot of honey. Without any other sustenance but the honey, he performed the duties of the gods, which is that of honor, he lived till the feast was over. Then he ordered the honey taken away and he died.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

Funny and Foolish Features of Constitution Tinkering in Georgia.

Just to learn what sort of uninformed and unnecessary legislative fuddling the people of Georgia have to suffer and be ridiculed for, one should read the texts of the 43 long proclamations published by Governor Hardman by which he submits that many proposed constitutional amendments to the qualified electors to be voted on November 4.

One of those proclamations embodying an act of the legislature is more than 1,700 words in length, two others are nearly as long and most of the others exceed 1,000 words.

The essential amendment in each of these 43 long proclamations could and should have been condensed into 170 words and the proclamation confined to not over 100 words.

Dumbells as to the Constitution.

Seven of the proclamations embody "An Act to propose to the qualified voters of Georgia an amendment," etc., all in the face of the plain fact that no "Act" passed by the legislature and signed by the governor, is necessary under the constitution for the submission of an amendment to that document.

The usual practice in the congress and in the legislature of the states is to pass a "joint resolution," concurred in by two-thirds of each house, which is then submitted to the qualified voters. The congress does not approve when the states shall act upon the amendment; the states specify the particular election when the amendment shall be voted upon.

The passage of a bill to submit an amendment in these Georgia cases and the signing of those bills into law by the governor were all unusual and unnecessary proceedings, and show their absurdity on their faces.

Cheap credit cuts down banking revenue. But it is doing something else—more important. It is "one of the forces making for business recovery."

As one well-known financial writer has recently pointed out, when cau-rampant; now when caution is necessary, pessimism prevails. Until this has been changed, a substantial im-

EARLY LEGAL ACTION IN CENSUS TILT URGED

Cry of "Misunderstanding" Is Raised by Stuart After Conference.

Congressman Robert C. W. Ramspeck, of the fifth Georgia district, and Horace Russell, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, both of whom were present at the Washington conference when Dr. William M. Stewart, director of census, "promised unequivocally" that he would carry the total census population of the city of Atlanta as 300,000, with population of the various boroughs listed beneath it. Friday reiterated that Dr. Stewart has side-stepped his original agreement.

official census records Atlanta's full quota. At the same time City Attorney James L. Mayson expressed the belief that further delay in filing the suit will be unnecessary in view of the latest statement of the census director. He predicted court action will be filed within the next two or three days.

"There was no equivocation in Dr. Stewart's promise," Congressman Ramspeck said. "He knows he made that promise without a single string attached to it, and when he was asked again to make certain, he reassured those attending the conference. We left satisfied that he would keep his word."

"Dr. Stewart knows he promised to list and print in the official record, in addition to including in any announcements he made of principal cities of the nation, Atlanta's census figures including the new municipality with those of the borough listed beneath it," Mr. Russell said. "There could not have been a misunderstanding except on his part, and I do not see how he could have failed to know what he was saying. He did make the promise and we accepted it in good faith. It seems our confidence was misplaced instead of there being a misunderstanding."

"In view of Dr. Stewart's latest announcement, I can see no reason for further delay in taking the necessary steps to force the census bureau to

Woodcock Postpones Tour of Inspection

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Prohibition Director Amos W. Woodcock has postponed the start of his first tour of inspection from tonight until tomorrow night.

He motored today to his home in Salisbury, Md., to attend to personal matters.

His first destination is Cincinnati and the next week will be spent in a survey of enforcement conditions which is to take him to Columbus, Cleveland, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Louisville, Lexington, and possibly into Tennessee. It is to be followed closely by other tours of inspection which, as now planned, will take the director into every state.

Increase in Postal Receipts Recorded

Gaining $23,018.76 over the month of July, postoffice receipts in Atlanta for the month of August, released Friday by Postmaster Edward K. Large, amounted to $354,637.77 as compared with $360,886.84 one year ago.

The apparent decrease of approximately $9,000, the postmaster pointed out, becomes an increase of about the same amount when the fact is considered that there were five Sundays in August, 1930, as compared with four a year ago. Daily receipts amount to about $15,000.

Mrs. Patrick Calhoun Is Reported Improved

J. P. ALLEN'S TO OPEN 'DOWNSTAIRS STORE'

J. P. Allen's will open a new department, a lower-priced downstairs store, today to be devoted to ready-to-wear, millinery and shoes.

New Department Will Feature Lower-Priced Merchandise.

The new department has been in the making for some months, and is a very attractive place, the fixtures being done in battleship gray. Allen's two elevators will go down to the new department, and a wide stairway leading from Cain street offers another entrance.

The opening of a lower-priced department is in line with Allen's expansion program for the year, and in keeping with the trend of less expensive merchandise throughout the country. It marks another period of growth in the Peachtree store which, since its beginning back in 1908, on Whitehall, has grown very steadily, increasing its scope and enlarging its circle of patrons.

Two Brothers Sued By Tarrar Dentist

HAMMOND, La., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Sedgie L. Newsom, prominent Hammond dentist, who was tarrar and feathered several months ago for paying too much attention to a local married woman, today filed suit for $10,000 damages against Charles and Gordon Starns for their part in the episode.

Dr. Newsom in his petition, claimed that his reputation and dental practice had been injured by the tarring and feathering.

The dentist in the early summer was taken from a Hammond restaurant, given a coat of tar and feathers, and then dumped on a principal street of the town. He later named Charles, Gordon and Ike Starns and two other Starns brothers as his abductors. He said that the brothers told him that he had been too intimate with Mrs. Ike Starns and warned him to leave Hammond. The five Starns brothers were arrested and subsequently released. Newsom has steadfastly disclaimed improper conduct with Mrs. Starns.

BAPTISTS TO MARK CHRISTIE'S 4TH YEAR

The Ponce de Leon Baptist church Sunday will commemorate the fourth anniversary of the pastorate of Dr. L. R. Christie with special services in both Sunday school and church during the forenoon. Announcement of the observance program was made Thursday, at which time it was stated that a special letter calling attention to the anniversary has been sent to all members by the board of deacons.

The commemorative services incidentally will mark the second period in the history of the church of its expansion in step with the progress Atlanta has made as a growing city, it was pointed out. In 1905, the original edifice of the Ponce de Leon Baptist was erected at Ponce de Leon and Piedmont avenues, then an outlying district bordered by woods. A few weeks ago formal opening of its new edifice at Peachtree street and Wesley avenue was observed, thus signifying the church's co-operation with the rapid expansion of the city.

It likewise was pointed out that Dr. M. Ashby Jones, former pastor, whom Dr. Christie succeeded four years ago as pastor, has advised friends in Atlanta that he will make a visit to this city during the coming week in connection with the new movement afoot to carry out the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial project under the efforts of Gutzon Borglum, original sculptor, and other civic leaders.

Prior to his assumption of the pastorate of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church, Dr. Christie was president of the home missions board of the Baptist church.

Health Conservation For Schools Urged

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the public schools of the borough of Atlanta, Friday urged 1,300 teachers to give greater regard for their interest as citizens and at the same time urged a health conservation program for the 67,000 students of the system.

Dr. Sutton spoke at the meeting of school teachers at the Baptist Tabernacle prior to the formal opening of schools Monday morning.

He pointed to the recent criticism of school employees' not being registered on the borough tax digests, and declared that every teacher who is a resident of the borough or not, should be a registered taxpayer.

"Talk, preach and practice health," he told the staff.

New Officers Named By State Adventists

The 29th annual conference of Seventh Day Adventists of the state of Georgia, now in session, will observe the Sabbath today in accordance with the fourth commandment of the decalogue. Today's principal speaker of the conference, which is to close Sunday, will be Professor W. R. French.

At a business session the following officers for the next conference year were elected: The Rev. B. F. Kneeland, president; Archie Dart, educational and young people's secretary; V. A. LaGrone, Sabbath school and home missionary secretary, and the following members of the executive committee: The Rev. B. F. Kneeland, Dr. J. B. Mitchell, A. Widmaier and Paul Scoggins.

Building and Loan Assets Show Growth

A consolidation of the semi-annual reports of the building and loan associations operating under licenses from the Georgia securities commission, compiled by J. E. Bodenhamer, shows that the assets of these associations increased $375,000 during the first six months of this year, making a total of $5,725,000 assets.

This money is all loaned to Georgia people. These associations received from interest on loans during this period more than $204,000. The number of share holders increased from 15,982 to 16,407.

There are 28 of these associations operating in this state under licenses from the securities commission, a new association having begun operation at Moultrie this week.

Disabled Veteran Reported Missing

Reported as missing since Tuesday afternoon, Ramie Brooks, 37, a disabled war veteran, was the object of a search by city and county police Friday night.

The wife of the ex-soldier told officers he had $100 in cash with him when last seen at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon.

"He left the home of my sister, Mrs. Daisy Couch, at 980 Howell Mill road, to go to the federal building where he said he was going to stand an examination for the revenue service," Mrs. Brooks declared, "but we have not seen him since." Police said they were told he failed to reach the federal building.

Brooks, who is said to have suffered from heart attacks, was described as being about five feet and nine inches tall, weighing about 125 pounds, and having light brown hair and fair complexion.

POLICE CHIEF SLAIN AT CARTERSVILLE

Joe B. Jenkins Shot To Death by Negro in Front of Home.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Sept. 5.—(AP)—A negro who officers believe is John Willie Clark, 22, escaped convict, was being sought tonight in north Georgia counties as the slayer of Joe B. Jenkins, Cartersville, chief of police.

Chief Jenkins, 65 years of age, and for 15 years chief of police here, was slain in front of his home about 1 a. m. today in a hand-to-hand fight with the negro.

Another negro was held in jail, suspected of knowing whereabouts of the slayer.

Sheriff George W. Gaddis notified the sheriff of Whitfield county that he believed the killer is Clark, who escaped from the Murray county chain gang last week. Three other prisoners escaped with Clark, but they have been recaptured.

Chief Jenkins was awakened about 1 a. m. by shouts of two negroes who stopped their automobile in front of his house to take a drink. He called out. One of the negroes, Oscar Green, cotton mill employee, passed by and the other asked him to keep the negroes covered while he returned to his home to dress.

As the officer turned, one of the negroes started the automobile. Chief Jenkins grabbed his pistol from Green, thrust it into the negro's face and ordered him to stop. The negro grabbed the pistol, but was pulled from the machine by the officer.

A furious scuffle ensued. Green hit the negro with a rock, and as he fell he fired at Jenkins. The bullet entered the chief's head above his right eye, and he died instantly. Members of his family who heard the noise rushed on their porch in time to see him killed.

The negro then covered Green with the pistol and sped away toward town. His companion escaped during the fight.

Shortly after dawn, a negro suspected of being the slayer's companion was captured and was held while officers grappled him in hopes of learning where the killer was hiding. Sheriff Gaddis immediately notified sheriffs of nearby counties, including Fulton, and lookouts were posted. Poses searched in this and Whitfield counties.

The slayer's automobile was found abandoned on a street here about 5 a. m. Sheriff Gaddis said it was registered at Cuthbert.

Funeral services for Mr. Jenkins will be conducted at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Sam Jones Memorial Methodist church, with the Rev. Walter S. Robison officiating. Interment will be in the Oak Hill cemetery.

Pettit, Miss Catherine Jenkins, Miss Geraldine Jenkins, and Miss Margaret Jenkins, of Cartersville; Lieutenant Ellis Jenkins, of the United States army, now stationed in Tien Tsin, China; and Roy, Sam and Frank Jenkins, of Cartersville.

Myrtle Tree Foliage In Brunswick Covers Nearly Ten Feet

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Long before tree-sitting, teeter-totter or airplane endurance contests jumped into the limelight a myrtle tree seed started its growth here that has put its human adversaries to shame.

The seed in some way lodged in the mortar in a brick wall, just below the second-story windows of a Brunswick building.

The seed sprouted, took roots and grew. Today the foliage covers nearly in diameter at the thickest part of its trunk and its foliage covers nearly 10 square feet.

The myrtle is growing straight out from the wall and its boughs are heavily laden with foliage.

Whether the myrtle's roots have battled through the mortar to the ground or whether the tree thrives on brick and sunshine is not known. But there it sticks, its roots so imbedded in the mortar they are hardly noticeable. The tree gives the appearance of having been stuck against the wall and seemingly defies the lamented Mr. Newton's best laid theories.

SEARCH CONTINUES FOR EDITOR-CONVICT

Officers Believe Woman
May Have Helped Burns
Escape From Gang.

LAGRANGE, Ga., Sept. 5.—Working on a theory that he used an automobile in his second escape from a Georgia chain gang, authorities Friday continued their search for Robert Elliott Burns, former Chicago publisher.

William Davis, Bellaire, Ohio, who says he is an air mail flyer, but who was hitch-hiking from Chicago to Miami, following a plane crash, brought the story of the flight here after police at Barnesville, Forsyth and Macon had failed to stop the car.

Davis said he accepted a ride in the car, in which there was a man and a boy. The man, he said, explained as he passed traffic signals at high speed, that he was eluding the police who wanted him for murder.

Davis said the man's strange story got him nervous and he asked to get out. The man kept speeding, he claims, until on the highway south of Macon a fire was punctured. Davis then got out. The man fled, boarded a truck and continued south. Davis didn't know what became of the boy.

Davis said the man had a stiff leg, with a tape over and under his leg eye.

Police reported that the car had been recovered and was found to have been stolen at Elberton, Ga.

G. S. C. W. FALL TERM
TO OPEN WEDNESDAY

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Sept. 5.—G. S. C. W. will open Wednesday for its regular annual session. Hundreds of students from all parts of Georgia will arrive Tuesday over the famous Beauty Special. The making of schedules and other work will begin Wednesday morning the formal opening will be held Wednesday at 11 o'clock in the auditorium. President J. L. Besson and Hon. Miller S. Bell, Dr. E. A. Tigner, representing the board of trustees, will welcome the students and faculty.

Authorities here were inclined to believe that one of the two women may have helped Burns in his getaway.

After his discharge from the army Burns reported that he obtained $4 in a holdup in Atlanta in 1922, then he got $1,333 as his share. He escaped from the Campbell county chain gang after serving less than two months of a six to ten year sentence.

Information supplied by his wife who said he had transferred his affections to another led to Burns' arrest June in Chicago, where he had become a $20,000 a year magazine publisher.

After his return here efforts were made to obtain a pardon or parole, but these failed by the rejection by state prison commission. Recently a new plea was made in his behalf and taken under advisement by the commission.

"Bless you sir, he's always the first stirring. But here he is to answer your questions for himself. No, no sir," he added in panic, at the sight of the half-crown Holmes had drawn from his pocket. "It would be worth my place to take it."

As Holmes replaced the half-crown, a fierce-looking elderly man strode out from the gate.

Silas Brown Defiant.

"What the devil do you want here?" demanded the man.

"Ten minutes talk with you, my good sir," replied Holmes in the sweetest of tones. "I've no time to talk to every gadabout. Be off, or you'll find a dog at your heels!"

By SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Where'er you go you'll find it true That bashful folk are hard to woo.

—Old Mother Nature.

It was two days before Impy saw that strange Chipmunk near his home for the second time. He popped out from under the fern surrounding his doorway just in time to catch a glimpse of the stranger scampering along the rail fence. Rage filled Impy's heart as he started after the stranger. But the stranger could run and in a very short time Impy had lost sight of this tormentor. You see, that is the way Impy regarded the stranger. He didn't want anyone around; yet this stranger persisted in coming.

Impy turned around and went back. He climbed to the highest stone on the pile of stones and there he sat and chattered. By and by he had a feeling that some one was watching him. He turned suddenly in time to see a tail disappear between some of the stones of that pile. Mr. Impy was upset! Never have you seen anyone more upset. This was unforgivable impudence. He started to hunt for the intruder. In and out he ran between the stones of that pile, but he didn't find the intruder. Once more he climbed to the top stone. And then shortly the same thing happened again. This time, however, Impy got a better look at the stranger and, curiously enough, his anger suddenly melted away. He couldn't have told you why; he just melted away, that was all.

This time Impy didn't follow. He remained where he was and it wasn't long before he saw a pair of bright eyes peering at him from behind a stone. He sat perfectly still. Those bright eyes remained still also. He knew they were watching him. Impy knew they were watching him. After a long time, the prettiest Chipmunk Impy had ever seen hopped up on a stone a little distance away.

"What is your name?" asked Impy, much to his own surprise.

"Miss Frisky," replied the pretty little stranger.

"That's a nice name," said Impy, and turned to see Miss Frisky. Instantly she disappeared. She was very bashful—very, very bashful, indeed. Impy was becoming excited. He hurried for her, which was the worst thing he could have done. His hunt was in vain. He returned to his former seat on the rock. It wasn't long before he discovered Miss Frisky peeping at him again. "Where do you live?" asked Impy.

Mrs. Frisky refused to tell him. "I suppose you know," said Impy, "that I live here."

Little Miss Frisky nodded, but she didn't say a word.

"Can't we be friends?" persisted Impy.

Again little Miss Frisky nodded. At this Impy started toward her. Instantly little Miss Frisky darted away. Impy stopped, but at a safe distance. "I won't hurt you," said Impy. "I promise you I won't hurt you."

Little Miss Frisky said nothing, but suddenly turned and darted away. It was surprising how quickly she could disappear. Impy was disappointed. He made his way back to his favorite stone and there he hoped and hoped that little Miss Frisky would come back. But, though he waited and waited, he saw no more of Miss Frisky that day. That was because she was so very, very bashful.

Charlie Black and Berrien Moore Meet Today for City Title; Coach Mehre's Problem Is "Not So Terrible," McGill Says; Alexander Selects Grey Devils for Scrimmage With Jackets

One of the seasonal questions most difficult to answer is "When does the football season open?"

The football season opens September 20, September 27 and October 4, according to fancy. Six conference outfits, unable to contain themselves longer or having important business in developing inexperienced squads, play their first games two weeks hence—Clemson, L. S. U., North Carolina State, South Carolina and Virginia.

All the others begin three weeks from today with exceptions of Georgia Tech and Kentucky, who do not play until October 4. That makes three openings.

But to read Atlanta newspapers now, one would imagine the season had opened long since. Football is the big idea in bold type with pictures of ponderous physical specimens doing crazy things.

Some sections may be wildly excited over international polo, the big boat race, Gallant Fox, the Cubs, the Athletics, miniature golf and boxing, but in our little locality the only story is football.

CHICKS SAVED EXPERTS.

Within a few games of clinching the 1930 championship of the Southern league, the Memphis Chicks stand out as one pre-season favorite that came through in triumph for the experts.

Nearly every observer around the circuit, except, of course, the Birmingham boys, picked the Chicks to win. The Slagtown lads could see nothing but that Manager Milan would carry right along in the path cut by Johnny Dobbs, which was perfectly fair enough and loyal.

The Chicks had more than their share of luck. That always is the way with the winner of a pennant. Luck is a very necessary element. It is just as necessary as good pitching, hard hitting and smart fielding. The Chicks are the best in the league and deserve to win.

Memphis fans have taken the Chicks right calmly, they tell me. The home town folks have been sitting back at the radio waiting for the Prothro clan to blow up. Now Memphis is awake to the presence of a champion in their midst and have set about celebrating the victory.

And they also say in a whisper that the Chicks constitute the most inexpensive ball club in the circuit as far as purchase price and salary list are concerned. That should make Tom Watkins some sort of champion, too.

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

Jack Dempsey and Young Stribling will be in the same ring at Macon the night of September 15. The ex-champion of the world and the next champion of the world will act as referees in the two final bouts on a boxing program promoted by Charley Morgan.

Dempsey long has been an admirer of Young Stribling. He saw possibilities in the green young man who was punched so hard by Paul Berlenbach. He did not think Stribling quite ready for Jack Sharkey two winters ago at Miami Beach.

Now Dempsey thinks Stribling is the best heavyweight in the world. He already has announced he is ready to help him in any way he can to win the title—meaning in capacity of adviser or promoter.

The spectacle should be attractive and no doubt the municipal auditorium at Macon will be filled for the show.

CHARLIE BLACK MEETS MOORE IN CITY FINALS

Julius Hughes Eliminated; Finalists Play Brilliant Golf to Win.

By Roy White.

Charlie Black, Jr., Capital City golfer and former Georgia champion, and Berrien Moore, young East Lake star, will play a 36-hole match today over the Capital City Country Club course for the Atlanta amateur championship. Both fought their way to the championship round with brilliant victories in the semi-final round Friday afternoon.

Black defeated L. R. Hunter, winner of the recent Radium Springs invitation tournament, while Moore eliminated Dave Black, present Georgia champion, after having beaten Pete Barnes 1 up on the 21st green in a quarter final match.

The morning round today is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock and the afternoon round of 18 holes will start about 2 o'clock. Finals in all other matches will be played this morning over the 18 hole course.

No former city tournament has produced more spectacular golf than this one. Both Black and Moore won 1 up. Black went 1 up on the 16th green and halved the next two, while Moore secured his margin of victory on the 15th green and held it to the end.

CONSOLATION TITLE.

In the consolation flight, Cy Strickler will meet Scott Hudson, Jr., the medalist, in another of those Capital City-East Lake finals. Chas. Lagomarsino, of Druid Hills, will play Dr. W. C. Warren for the first flight title. Norris Boyles will meet Charles Shannon in the second flight. Dr. Tom Hinman, Jr., will meet Stewart Murray for the third flight title. Billy Youngblood and Walter Davis play for the fourth flight title, and Andy McElroy will play Charles Shropshire for the fifth flight championship.

Friday morning's golf was a repetition of the brilliant play of Thursday afternoon and with two exceptions the favorites again won out. Julius Hughes, defending Druid Hills champion, lost 3-2 to L. R. Hunter. Hunter for the first time in the tournament was leading at the end of nine holes and continued his steady game to end the match on the 16th green.

Berrien Moore furnished the biggest upset of the day with a 1-up victory over Pete Barnes on the 21st green with a birdie 4. Barnes was leading the match at the end of the 18th hole, but Moore's birdie on the 21st won him the match. The young East Lake golfer began a consistent par-cracking game on the back nine and squared the match on the 21st with a long second shot that was on the green. A long putt rimmed the cup and the birdie dropped while Barnes' fourth also rimmed the cup.

SEVERAL CHANCES.

Both golfers had several opportunities to win the match on the last three holes but blew their chances at opportune moments, although both were playing par golf.

Charlie and Dave Black both won comparatively easy matches over Dick Garlington and Bruce Morgan. Charlie especially played a great game and carded a 33, two under par, on the first nine, and was 4 up. He rimmed the cup on two other attempts. He maintained the lead and ended the match on the 16th green.

Scott Morgan, who Thursday eliminated Scott Hudson, Jr., in the first upset of the tournament, found the going too rough and the pressure of playing Dave Black, Georgia's amateur champion, entirely too strong. Morgan was eliminated on the 16th green.

The British, swamped in their last two challenges for the historic cup in 1924 and 1927, unquestionably present the strongest lineup since they last were victorious in the series of 1914.

There is little to choose between the teams on handicaps and experience. The Americans have a 34-goal rating, the British 33, but all cup matches are played "on the flat." Unless rainy weather interferes, a capacity crowd of 40,000 spectators is expected to watch opening match of the "world's series" of polo. The teams will play eight periods of seven and one-half minutes each, unless a deadlock requires extra chukkers.

The Americans, supreme in the galloping sport since the war, have been installed odds-on favorites.

Charlie Black, Sr., Has Trying Day.

The afternoon round brought cheers and heartaches for Charlie Black, Sr., for his two sons were playing in opposite brackets, with a possibility of an all Black final for today.

He started out following Charlie, Jr., and when he learned that Dave was trailing Moore, he joined the latter gallery. Things were very interesting around the 14th green and the tie was rapidly changing.

Charlie and L. R. Hunter squared their match and a few moments later, Dave squared matters with young Moore. Which of his sons needed him most and which match should be for him was the question for the elder Black to decide.

He chose a halfway mark and was Continued on Second Sport Page.

"Well, Here's How It's Done---" That's all there is to this business of hitting homers." Thus Hack Wilson, Cub slugger and pace-setter in the double-league race, might talk on the subject. He is shown above demonstrating.

POLOISTS CLASH FOR TITLE TODAY

Lineups Are Announced for International Series at Meadow Brook.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Official lineups for the opening match tomorrow for the international polo cup were announced today as follows:

Ernie Padley, Earle A. S. Hopping, Captain Tommy Hitchcock and Winston Guest, for the United States; Gerald Baldwin, Lewis L. Lacey, Captain C. T. L. Roark and Lieutenant Humphrey Guinness, for Great Britain.

The teams will take the field as they were in the final practice matches. For the American cup defenders, Captain Tommy Hitchcock specified his lineup was for the first game only, while the British team for possible changes, depending on the outcome tomorrow.

The opening contest of the series, best two out of three, to decide the winner is scheduled at 3 o'clock on the international field of the Meadow Brook Club.

"This year it is tough right on through. There isn't a rest spot in it," "I'll say this," he said, "we'll give them all a good hard game. We'll win some of them. Beyond that it is impossible to say."

QUITE SMART.

No one has gone around naming Mr. Mehre "The Old Fox of Clark County," or other names of that sort, but he is nevertheless plenty smart as the boys say.

This season he has to fill three positions, just three, center, right tackle and fullback. At right tackle he has four men who look good, maybe five. There are Swager, Thornton, Lynn, Davis and Hankins, Jim Hamrick looks best at this time.

ARMY POLOISTS' TOUR APPROVED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Plans for a team of Army polo stars to sail for the Argentine September 12 to represent the United States in a series of matches with Argentine military teams were approved today by the war department.

The Army squad of six officers will consist of two players of international repute. Captain Peter F. Rodas, field artillery, Lexington, Ky., was a member of the successful 1925 Army team.

Other members of the squad will include Lieutenant Colonel W. A. Wilkison, quartermaster corps, Claxton, Ga., has been a member of several major Army teams in recent years, and was an aspirant for the international team two years ago.

Other members of the squad will include Major Charles C. Smith, cavalry, St. Joseph, Mo.; Lieutenant Morton McD. Jones, cavalry, Asheville, N. C.; Lieutenant Homer W. Kiefer, field artillery, Bellefontaine, Ohio.

SKEET CLUB INVITES VISITORS TO SHOOT

The Western Union Skeet Club, located near Adamsville, will hold its regular shoot today at 2:30 p. m. Field guns can be used and any visitor will be welcome.

It is hoped that enough interest can be created in the sport that other clubs will be formed eventually, making possible team competition.

Mehre Speeds Practice With 2 Sessions Daily

Bulldogs Expected To Be Tough Despite Murderous Schedule on Grid This Fall.

By Ralph McGill.

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 5.—Clad in an old pair of green flannel things, something like grandpa used to wear in winter, Harry Mehre appeared on Sanford football field this afternoon.

"I have been reading the papers," he said, "whether I should or not, and after reading them I have started the boys off on two practice periods per day. We'll keep that up until school starts. I have to do that to get to be as good as the papers say we are going to be this fall."

"The decision to take two workouts each day was the result of some deliberate thinking," said the Georgia coach. "It just occurred to me that two lessens per day would mean just twice as much as one. If these fellows who come over here on a visit keep slapping me on the back and telling me how great everything looks I may make it three a day."

Mr. Mehre then stood and looked musingly on to the field where more than half a hundred young men were learning to do the Notre Dame shift, pull out of the line and get into the interference, catch punts and so on.

"It's foolish to say we'll win all our games," he said, "because the schedule is murderous. Last year, for instance, we had the Auburn game in ahead of the Alabama game on Thanksgiving and the regulars played only a short time. This left us in shape to go on with the Alabama and Tech games and be in good shape."

"This year it is tough right on through. There isn't a rest spot in it," "I'll say this," he said, "we'll give them all a good hard game. We'll win some of them. Beyond that it is impossible to say."

QUITE SMART. No one has gone around naming Mr. Mehre "The Old Fox of Clark County," or other names of that sort, but he is nevertheless plenty smart as the boys say.

This season he has to fill three positions, just three, center, right tackle and fullback. At right tackle he has four men who look good, maybe five. There are Swager, Thornton, Lynn, Davis and Hankins, Jim Hamrick looks best at this time.

At center McWhorter and Demi Tasse Tassapoulos, the latter a substitute last year, are battling.

And at fullback there is Jack the Ripper Roberts, the young man who earned that name in the North Carolina game last fall. The North Carolina line was making a serious effort to stay unbeat until Roberts went in and ripped it into something which resembled shredded wheat. He can shred a lot of lines and will.

So Mr. Mehre's problems do not look so terrible after all. And it would occasion no surprise if Mr. Mehre were to bob up with a surprise or so. As noted before, no one has insisted that Harry Mehre is a fox.

YOUNG WILLIE.

He has a young fellow named Willie Sullivan over here. You will hear more of Willie. He happens to be a kicker and a passer who looked to be tied with Spurgeon Chandler, the star in those roles during the dramas of 1929.

Jimmy Stoinoff, who was too ill to play last season, is being groomed for the fullback job. Stoinoff looks something like Joseph Shilkraut, the movie man, but he acts like a real fullback. He has weight, a great pair of legs, and handles himself well. He has his confidence back and is making a real try.

Mehre has his two ends, Catfish Smith and Herb Maffett, back again. Bobby Rose, one tackle, returns. The two famous red-head guards, Red Maddox and Red Leathers, are here big as life and twice as natural. PLENTY OF BACKS. All the halfbacks of 1929 are back. Continued on Second Sport Page.

FREEMAN WINS WELTER CROWN

Beats Young Thompson for Title as 16,000 Cheer Decision.

By Charles W. Dunkley, Associated Press Sports Writer.

LEAGUE PARK, CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Tommy Freeman, Cleveland veteran, was awarded the welterweight championship of the world here tonight. He defeated Young Jack Thompson, Oakland, Cal., negro, in 15 rounds. Thompson was defending his title for the first time since he won it from Jackie Fields in Detroit, four months ago. Referee Patsy Haley rendered the decision.

Haley did not hesitate in reaching his verdict after the last punch went flying through the air.

WINNER STUNNED.

Thompson stood in a corner, stunned by the verdict, while Freeman apparently was just as much surprised as the losing champion. A crowd of 16,000 roared its approval as the hand of its adopted son was raised in victory. Freeman was born in Hot Springs, Ark.

Freeman probably reached his decision on Freeman's dogged aggressiveness, although the spectators, at least those in the ring-side seats, were convinced that Thompson had the margin in the nine rounds on his masterly boxing skill. Thompson floored Freeman for a count of six with two ripping left hooks to the jaw in the second round and had him in distress at the end of the tenth when he landed a hard right to the jaw.

Freeman made his big drive for the crown with the beginning of the twelfth round. Thompson in the previous round had worn himself to the point of exhaustion by his aggressive attack and when the twelfth started his punches began to lack steam and his speed apparently left him.

STIFF ATTACK.

Thereafter, Freeman began to score effectively with lefts to the face and caudex to the champion to miss frequently.

Haley said he based his decision on the fact that Freeman landed the cleaner punches and scored more frequently. He credited Freeman with winning eight rounds, five going to Thompson and two being even.

"Freeman outscored Thompson with left-hand jabs by at least three to one," Haley explained. "Thompson missed and you can't give a man any credit for missing. Of course Thompson landed the harder punches but hard punches do not always win fights. Freeman made Thompson miss frequently. In fact I have never seen a champion miss so many punches."

"When I told Thompson in the dressing room that his missing punches caused me to give the decision against him he said he had no kick to it."

CHAMP CAUTIOUS.

The fight except for two or three rallies that brought the spectators to their feet, was comparatively tame. Thompson boxed cautiously while Freeman doggedly came charging into close quarters in his attempt to injure body punishment.

The only knock down of the battle came in the second round when Thompson suddenly lashed out two left hooks to the jaw, the last one knocking Freeman sprawling to the floor. Freeman immediately got up on one knee and stayed in this position until the count of six. When he got up he grabbed Thompson around the waist and hung on while the champion tried to shake him off.

VARSITY GIVEN LONGEST DRILL RUNNING PLAYS

Tharpe Gives Boys Several Plays for First Skirmish.

By Ed Danforth.

Organization of "The Grey Devils," that gallant unit that serves through the football season as sparring partner for the Yellow Jacket varsity, was effected yesterday.

Coach Tharpe, assistant coach, took a list of some 35 names from W. A. Alexander, the head man, and called them to a distant part of the field. There Coach Tharpe and H. W. Robinson formed three teams and went to work. Plays were given them as weapons with which to fight the Varsity in the first scrimmage whenever that is ordered.

About 34 men were left in the hands of Coach Alexander, Fincher and Miles and might be called the temporary varsity squad. Transfers may be made now and then from the varsity to the Grey Devils and vice versa. Boys have a habit of migrating from one to the other as they show form or the lack of it.

The Grey Devils hold the success or failure of Tech football. Unless they can offer the Varsity serious opposition, the varsity grows soft and learns little or nothing. It is hard work and at times seems thankless. The cynical who saw the three teams of Grey Devils working yesterday predicted that after the first scrimmage the number would dwindle; that the faint-hearted would fall out after some conflict with the big boys. Yet Coach Tharpe looked them over and was pleased.

GOOD SQUAD.

"I don't deny any tactics in this bunch now," he confided, "but otherwise we've got a damned good squad. There are four or five real players in there and when we find two tactics we will give the varsity a shock."

The varsity squad went through the longest drill of the week yesterday. No halt was made on account of rain. Through a steady downpour, the young men took their catches and ran down under punts with the rain beating on their bare heads. The sun came out just before Coach Alexander ordered a half in general work and started running plays in dummy scrimmage.

The third team formed was general mixtures. Veterans worked side by side with fuzzy faced sophomores and untied reserves.

ONE COMBINATION WAS ISSUED.

One combination was issued and Herron, ends; Speer and Maree, tackles; Edwards and Milligan, ends; and center; McArthur, Graydon, Hart and Cherry, backs.
